Synopsis.—In the village of Bing-ville thirteen-year-old Robert Em-mett Moran, crippled son of a poor widow, is known as the Shepherd of the Birds. His world is his mother and friends, his little room. mother and friends, his little room, the flower garden of Judge Crooker, and every flying thing he sees from ris window. The painting of pictures is his enjoyment, and little Pauline Baker, small daughter of a neighbor, the object of his boyish affection. To him, J. Patterson Bing, the first citizen of Bingville, is the ideal of a really great man. The village becomes money madireflecting the great world in its state of unrest. The Bing family is a leader in the change. To them the village has become "provincial." The butcher and baker and candlestick-maker all raise their candlestick-maker all raise their prices. They left the boys and the women to do what they could with the crops. Naturally the latter were had little to offer and the demand upon the stores steadily increased. Certain of the merchants had been, in a way, spoiled by prosperity. They were rather indifferent to complaints and demands. Many of the storekeepers, irritated, doubtless, by overwork, had dost their former politeness. There were days when supplies failed to arrive. The railroad service had been bad enough in times of peace. Now, it was worse than ever. Those who had plenty of money found it difficult to get a sufficient quantity of good food, Bingville being rather cut off from other centers of life by distance and a poor railroad. Some drove sixty miles to Hazelmend to do marketing for themselves and

FINEST OF EARTH'S CHURCHES

Men of Genius Through Many Cen turies Aided in the Erection of St. Peter's at Rome.

The history of St. Peter's at Rome, ne of the world's most interesting edifices, goes back over a thousand years, for it was on this spot, the site of Nero's circus, within walls ornate with gold and glistening with mosaic and marble, that Charlemagne received the crown of Imperial Rome from Pope Leo III., and here was slowly erected throughout subsequent centuries this building, called the central cathedral of Christendom. All that man could do to make St. Peter's great and beautiful has been lavished upon that splendid church. Mme, de Stael sald of it. "C'est le seul travail de l'art sur potre terre actuelle qui ait le genre de grandeur qui characterise les oeuvres immediates de la creation." (It is the sole work of art on our earth which has the sort of nobleness that characterizes the works of nature.) Marion Crawford puts one's nutshell when he says, "The first sight of St. Peter's affects one as though in every day streets, walking among one's fellows, one should meet with

He Was Only Chastising Them. Many ingenious and audacious defenses have been made in New York criminal courts recently by the crooks who have been operating in the city, but surely the most amusing of all was that of the man who tried to steal four parrots from a cage in Central park and protested when arrested by a park watchman that he was merely spanking the birds because they shout-

GOLDEN TEXT-Ye are the body of Christ, and members in particular.-I Cor REFERENCE MATERIAL-I Kings 5: -12; Neh. 3:1-32; 4:15-23. JUNIOR TOPIC-Helping One Another. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC the body of Christ, under the figure of the human body. The topic "Working With Others" can only have application to Christians working with ench other; for it is as members of the body of Christ that this relationship and obligation are set forth. The church is an organism, not merely an organization. As such it is:

1. One Body (vv. 12-20). As a body it has many members, each with a definite ministry or function. Many members are essential to a body or organism. So it is with the church. Each taember has its own gift and office. 'The proof of this oneness is that by the sovereign act of the Holy Spirit ad believers are constituted one body (v. 13). A multiplicity of organisms does not make a body, but a multiplicity of members with their separate functions. There is no psychology was called into play sevroom for jealousy or discontentment among them (vv. 15, 16). It would be as reasonable for the foot to complain of its lot and refuse to function as a foot, as for one member of a church to envy the place of another. A deacon who is such by the appointment of God should not complain that he is not a minister. The church needs its News, foot-members, that is, those who are swift to run on its errands; it needs its eye-members, who are quick to perceive opportunities for service; it needs its ear-members, who are quick to hear the call to duty; it needs its tongue-members, who can speak forth the message of truth; it needs its hand-members to perform its many deeds of kindness. Each member of the church has its place by the sovereign will of God (v. 18). If his were realized there would be the most efficient co-operation among the members of the church. The pastor would faithfully do the work of a pastor; the minister, the work of a minister, the teacher, the work of a teacher,

II. The Mutual Dependence of the Members of the Body (v. 21). They must co-operate for the life and service of the body. As the foot cannot dispense with the head, the eye with the hand, etc., so in the church, even the most highly gifted are dependent upon those of the lower order. Self-concelt and pride are as much out of place on the part of the highest in ability as of the lowest. In fact, a sober realization of this will de away with selfish pride. III The Least Attractive Members Are the Most Necessary (vv. 22, 23). In the human body the heart is of more vital importance than the tongue. So in the church prayer is of much more importance than the gift of eloquence. Many examples could be given of those who wrestled with God in the closet, doing more for the cause of Christ than those who shone forth most conspicuously in the public eye. The lungs are never seen or heard, yet without them the tongue could not utter a sound.

IV. The Different Members Have Been Adjusted by God (vv. 24, 25). So perfectly has this been done that if each performs its own function there will be harmony in the body. All schism in the church is due to failure of one member to perform its duty because of envy of the position of another. By considering Christ the cead and obeying Him all strife and division in the church will be elimin-

V. Members Are Sympathetically Related (vv. 25-27).

One member should have the same care for the other as for itself. The eye has the same concern for the foot as it has for itself; so the most eloquent has the same solicitude for the humblest member us for itself. This is true because the suffering of the one is the suffering of the other; the honor of the one is the honor of the other; the sorrow of the one is the sorrow of the other; the property of the one is the property of the other; the shame and disgrace of the one is the shame and disgrace of the other. This is true because there is a common life which is derived from and directed by its head, Jesus Christ (Eph. 5:23).

Expedient Useless. In ordinary daily life we use expediency and compromise. The haif-loaf policy rules. But there are deeps in our nature, and great unwritten laws. We are not always conscious of them ourselves. But now and again great decisions are forced upon us the surface rubbish of life is swept away and then we discover the laws that recognize no expediency, that bid us dismiss satan with contempt even though he offer us the kingdoms of the world for serving him. Temptation ceases when men reach this point. Here nothing matters but truth and righteousness. All tyrannies are helpless here.-J. Morgan Gibbon.

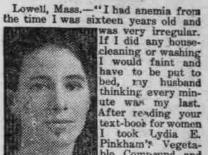

Our True Attitude.

Our true attitude is that of men who think of an immortality which is already ours. Today is a part of our inheritance. This life, which often seems so trival and discouraging, is a part of the eternal life with God. We are to find its values by associat ing it with the durable and eternal things .- Zion's Herald.

Doing Things. God made us to do things, and there is no tonic like that which comes from doing things worth while. A clear conscience and a clean life are far more to be desired than money. Real happiness without the achievement of some aim is unthinkable,

More Valuable Than Gold. A good disposition is more valuable than gold; for the latter is the gift of fortune, but the former is the dower of nature.-Addison.
